

Electromechanical Installations

Electromechanical Installations At STALCO we believe in delivering well designed and expertly applied installations with focus on optimum performance within the desired parameters and price margins set by the client, who have the benefit of direct consulting with our expert engineers and technicians, should the need arise. We strive for excellence in all our installations in order to establish ourselves as one of the leading industry in the field. Our vast experience in MV electrical equipment manufacturing has been the basis of development for this venture. We apply the same strict quality standards that we have applied in our production methods that have established us as one the leading manufacturer of quality products in the field.
